She stated that the former and current organizational charts had been provided to the Members in their Board packet, and that there was also a copy of it in front of them at the table. She stated that there was a new reporting structure and newly added positions.

Employee Engagement

- Employee Survey - Ms. Leveston reported that the Javits Center had distributed an employee survey to approximately 2800 employees and received 945 responses (or more than 1/3 of the staff), which represents a good sampling. Generally, the results were positive overall.
 - 57% stated that they were satisfied or very satisfied overall with working at the Javits Center
 - 89% took pride in working at the Javits Center. 92% understood what was expected of them at work, 67% of them said that they were treated with respect at work
 - The areas of improvement included career growth (26% were negative) and communication (23% were negative or neutral)

He ranked in the top 10% locally (NYC Corporate Challenge race) and in the top 7% globally. Event Highlights- Ms. Leveston provided a summary of recent events which the Javits Center hosted: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Disney Upfront <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ 200 black VIP cars were staged in the truck marshalling yard ○ More than 100 celebrities/talent were in attendance • Robin Hood Benefit Gala <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Approximately 3,500 people were in attendance ○ Raised $72 million for local NY charities • GNYHA Annual Meeting & Reception <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Approximately 1,200 people were in attendance ○ The event featured Senator Chuck Schumer as the keynote speaker ○ GNYHA contracts for services at fair market value. GNYHA has consistently expressed strong satisfaction with the Javits Center as a premier venue for large-scale corporate meetings. Representatives noted that, for an event of this scale, there is no better location than the Javits Center, and they would not consider hosting it elsewhere. • Local 3 IBEW 125th Anniversary Gala <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ The event was attended by members of the Javits Center executive team along with internal staff who joined in celebrating this event. The evening featured live music performances, including traditional bagpipes, and concluded with a fireworks display visible from the Terrace and Pavilion, creating a magical and memorable atmosphere. II. Corporate Matters (continued)

- Customer testimonial: “Thank you for helping make the 125th Anniversary show of the New York Auto Show a success. As always, there are a lot of moving and changing parts to the Auto Show, and you all roll with professionalism and a positive attitude.”
- From a financial standpoint, the show performed relatively flat as compared to the prior year. However, overall revenue remains lower than pre-pandemic levels. Several industry shifts have contributed to this, including the rise of electric vehicles which changed the layout and technical requirements of the booths and displays; some major international exhibitors, particularly German car manufacturers, have not yet returned; and consumer behavior has changed, with younger generations increasingly purchasing vehicles online rather than attending in-person exhibitions.

- Sun Works

- The Javits Center hosted over 900 students from New York City public schools, ranging from 2nd grade to high school, as part of a science and technology initiative involving sustainable agriculture and hydroponic farming. This initiative served as an important community engagement effort, providing students—many of whom might not otherwise have the opportunity to visit the Javits Center—with exposure to the facility. The Javits Center looks forward to building on this partnership in the future.

- Suppliers Day

- This year’s Supplier’s Day demonstrated significant growth, expanding its footprint by 28% from 230,000 to 294,000 square feet—prompting a move from Level 1 to Level 3. Labor revenue increased by 25% year-over-year, and the show recorded a notable increase in displays and signage, and achieved record-breaking attendance with 11,500 attendees and 675 exhibitors representing 74 countries.

- Fast Company

- The Javits Center hosted the Fast Company Innovation Festival for the second time. The event was relocated from the North Building to the South Building and utilized the River Pavilion space. The program transitioned from a theater setup to a gala with 800 guests, showcasing both the flexibility of the venue and the responsiveness of the staff. All event changeovers were managed internally, with no general contractor involved.

Press & Travel Highlights –

Over the past 90 days, Ms. Leveston has participated in various interviews and panels.

- BisNow Panel (May 29): Participated in a fireside chat with Julie Coker and Vijay Dandipani on the intersection of tourism, policy, and economic impact in NYC.

II. Corporate Matters (continued)

- UFI Panel (June 4): Hosted SISO, InGov, and ECA. Panel topics included navigating the U.S. exhibition ecosystem and industry shifts resulting from tariff policy changes, and its potential impact on international business.
- Newsweek “New Destinations” Feature: The Javits Center will be highlighted in the July edition as one of the leading venues for both B2B and B2C events.

Ms. Leveston also discussed her international travels to Italy, Germany and Greece to strengthen industry partnerships.

- Tutto Food Show (possible new food show) – Italy has a great deal of food exhibitor participation in the Fancy Food Show at the Javits Center, and show exhibitors were at the conference in Italy discussing a new food show to be held in either New York City or Las Vegas.
- IMEX Frankfurt - the Javits Center collaborated with NYC Tourism and participated in IMEX Frankfurt, an international industry conference.
- UFI Panel and Board – Ms. Leveston contributed to panel discussions on fostering international business and navigating the U.S. exhibition ecosystem as well as emphasizing U.S. visa and travel support to attract global exhibitors. Ms. Leveston was also appointed to the UFI Board.

Specific Impacts of Political Environment and Tariffs

Ms. Leveston stated that the global political environment, particularly trade and visa policies, has affected event attendance and bookings:

- TexWorld – there is a loss of Chinese exhibitors due to trade policies; $116,000 revenue impact.
- International Society of Neurochemistry -- attendance dropped from 1500 to 600; over $400,000 revenue impact.
- Coterie New York – Magic NY – this fashion and apparel show which occurs twice a year, has reduced their space by over 70,000 square feet, over $200,000 revenue impact and over $238,000 fiscal year impact.
- International Partnering Forum – this show was canceled due to loss in government funding; $409,000 revenue impact; however, this was not included in the Javits Center’s budget.
- Global Spine Conference – this is an event that the Sales team has been working on but haven’t booked. The Conference’s board ultimately decided not to come to the U.S. or Canada for the next few years and will wait to return in 2029 or 2030. The revenue impact could have been more than $500,000 but the event was not budgeted.

Regarding the purchasing impact, there is little to no impact on purchasing at the Javits Center because management preempted limited exposure. The Board members and senior management generally discussed how the global political environment and policies--and not localized issues—are influencing the business.

Recently an article was published in each of Exhibit City News and Trade Show Executive Magazine, highlighting the sustainability work at the Javits Center.
- Wildlife updates – four avian rescue and safety training sessions were conducted, with 126 active bird nests recorded on the rooftop. Javits Center’s biodiversity work was featured in a TED Talk and documentary.
- Robin Hood Benefit Gala successfully diverted guest food waste for the first time.

Mr. Siciliano provided a brief summary of captives to the Board and discussed the following:

- Captive legislation approved by the Legislature – took only 2 years whereas it took 3 years for NYPA
- Legislature’s additional requirements – submit a feasibility study to be conducted by a company different from the one that would be operating the captive.
- Next steps
 - Feasibility study
 - RFP for Services

Mr. Siciliano stated that there should be savings of approximately $300,000 after a few years.

He stated that the Javits Center had a total of 128 events, 95 of which were recurring events and 33 of which were new events. He reported that income was $3.2 million higher than plan due to: (1) $3,100,000 higher than plan due to planned events over performance; (2) $638,000 thousand higher than plan due to interest rates over plan; (3) $601,000 lower than plan due to delays in the deployment of outdoor digital display advertising. Expenses were $971,000 higher than plan, mainly due to $350,000 lower than plan driven by a decrease in workers' compensation reserve, other post-employment benefits (OPEB) and house labor, netted with an increase in event labor, $1,500,000 million higher than plan in Selling, General and Administrative (SG&A) costs due to higher cost in facility maintenance, utilities, IT license and subscriptions, temporary services and credit card fees, netted with lower costs in building supplies and event-related professional services, $996,000 lower than plan in Depreciation due to timing of assets capitalized, partially due to the Mechanical Room 3 change from CCOC to CCDC funded project and $113,000 higher than plan in Interest Expense partially due to GASB 96. Before EFPR presented, Mr. Lavine reported to the Board that the Audit & Finance Committees generally have a practice to meet in between Board meetings and in the interim as well throughout the year. Mr. Lavine assured the Board that he had met with the external auditors immediately prior to the Board Meeting and had an animated and thorough discussion with them. Their responses were cogent and authoritative, and it was helpful that the auditors and our senior management participated in the meeting. There was an executive session that Mr. Lavine had held with the external auditors and no material weaknesses or deviations from plan or conduct of plan surfaced in that executive session. The auditors presented a clean audit and no material or significant deficiencies were identified.
